[redacted] has alleged Agents of this Bureau threatened and harassed individuals who had attended a fund-raising gathering at his home on August 6, 1971, for the Harrisburg Defense Committee during efforts to interview these individuals. He further alleged interviewing Agents had inquired concerning his role as host for this event and that it was the intent of interviewing Agents to frighten people and discourage them from taking part in similar gatherings in the future.

Inquiry into this matter has determined [redacted] allegations are unfounded in fact and Senator Ribicoff has been so advised in response to his inquiry relative to this matter.

LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION
TO THE PRESS

To summarize, for information, recent developments in our continuing investigations of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

NC LKE (Daniel Ellsberg): During the evening of 10/26/71 at the Washington Ethical Society, Washington, D.C., [redacted] spoke at an affair sponsored by the American Civil Liberties Union, Washington Ethical Society and Women Strike For Peace. Approximately 200 persons were in attendance and [redacted] chosen topic was "Lessons From the Disclosure of the Pentagon Papers." In his remarks [redacted] stated that the "Pentagon papers" had been taken to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Press but since the MIT Press concluded that it would be too costly to publish the documents, they were taken to the Beacon Press which is publishing them at a cost of approximately $100,000. [redacted] also stated that newspapers should be willing to publish any articles including those against the national interest.

It will be recalled that previous investigation has revealed that the Beacon Press, Boston, Massachusetts, has published United States Senator Mike Gravel's (Democrat-Alaska) version of the "Pentagon papers." [redacted] aide to Senator Gravel and a Fellow of the Institute for Policy Studies (IPS), a Washington, D.C. New Left "think tank," has been publicly identified in the press as the individual who made the documents available to the Beacon Press.

On 10/26/71 [redacted] of the Spy Shop, Washington, D.C. electronics firm, advised that representatives of the IPS had purchased from him a "Mark III Bug Detector" for the purpose of use in detection of electronic surveillances, presumably at IPS. The cost of the detector was $1,029.60.

Memorandum to Mr. E. S. Miller
RE: LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION
TO THE PRESS
62-98194

It will be noted that we have no special coverage of IPS at this time.

Previous investigation has revealed that on 11/12/71 Ellsberg will make a speech at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. A Los Angeles source who [redacted] advised that [redacted] a noted anti-war activist, and [redacted] for the United Auto Workers Union, have been most active in promoting this affair for the "Get the Date Committee," an anti-Vietnam War group. The source further advised that a minimum of $2,500 expenses will be incurred for rental of the arena and that to date approximately 1,000 tickets have been sold.

The Tampa Office has reported that during a Statewide Anti-war Conference called by the Tampa Peace Action Coalition (TPAC), an umbrella type organization coordinating anti-Vietnam War activities in Tampa, on 8/25/71, a proposal was made to give support for a rally in Miami featuring Ellsberg. Reportedly, no vote on the proposal was made. The Tampa Office also reported that the TPAC has drawn up a form letter in which, among other things, was stated that "a TPAC representative will be speaking at a Daniel Ellsberg rally in Miami." It will be noted that no date for the rally or any further indication that Ellsberg will be at the rally was given. The Miami Office is contacting logical sources to develop further data concerning the aforementioned rally but has not developed positive information in this regard.

ACTION:

1. For information.

2. Investigations of leaks of classified information to the press continue to receive intensive investigative attention and you will be advised of pertinent developments.

3. Pertinent portions of data herein will be included in a weekly summary to the White House, Attorney General and his Deputy, as well as Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division.

My dear Senator:

I have received your communication of October 21, 1971, with which you forwarded a copy of a letter directed to you, dated October 6, 1971, by [redacted] of New Haven, Connecticut.

With respect to your constituent's inquiry, Agents of this Bureau interviewed a number of individuals who attende[redacted] gathering on August 6, 1971, for the expressed purpose of determining whether a speech given on this occasion by Dr. Daniel Ellsberg made reference in any manner to the unauthorized disclosure to the press of the highly classified "Pentagon papers." It is noted Dr. Ellsberg has publicly claimed responsibility for this act, and that this Bureau has been instructed by the Department of Justice to conduct investigation into this unauthorized disclosure.

[redacted] was also contacted relative to an interview but advised he did not desire to be interviewed concerning this matter.

Inquiry has determined persons approached for interview in this matter were not subjected to pressure or harassment to obtain their cooperation, nor were threats, actual or implied, made to them concerning appearance before a Grand Jury in the event they did not desire to be interviewed or concerning their participation at this or other gatherings of similar purpose.

October 6, 1971

The Honorable Abraham A. Ribicoff
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator Ribicoff:

As an opponent of the Vietnam War I know that you are a strong supporter of the right to protest and related individual freedoms. I am writing now to tell you of violations of individual rights that I have observed and experienced, in connection with a political fund-raising event.

This past August 6 a gathering was held at my summer home in Wellfleet, Massachusetts for the purpose of raising money for the Harrisburg Defense Committee. Sponsors of the event included such distinguished scientists, artists, and writers as [redacted]. The tone of the gathering was peaceful and thoughtful, and the two hundred or so guests, mostly professional people and academicians, were generous in their contributions.

Since that time, however, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation have approached me, at least four guests I know of, and probably many more, in relationship to the event. On at least two occasions the agents have been threatening in tone, implying that if one failed to meet with FBI representatives one might be called before a Grand Jury. While the agents have expressed interest mainly in Daniel Ellsberg, they have also inquired about me as the host for the event. Those approached have had the clear impression that the intent is to gather extensive dossiers and to frighten people and to discourage them from taking part in similar meetings, or in protest in general, in the future.

I am sure you will agree that this kind of harassment is a violation of the basic American constitutional right to peaceful assembly, that it is aimed at stifling legitimate political dissent, and that it creates a climate that makes a mockery of our democratic principles.

I urge you to look into the matter further and take action against this kind of abuse of government function at the expense of individuals expressing their rights as Americans. Knowing your passionate commitment in this area, I am confident that you will be as concerned about this kind of experience as I am.

I will attempt to gather further information about addition harassments, which I would of course be pleased to pass along to you.

Yours sincerely,

PURPOSE:

BACKGROUND:

Daniel Ellsberg, former Rand Corporation employee, and associates are known to have copied voluminous classified documents in 1969. Portions of the "McNamara Study" beginning in June, 1971, appeared in "The New York Times" and other newspapers. Investigation has disclosed Cornelius Sheehan of "The New York Times" and his wife, Susan, were, in March, 1971, in Cambridge, Massachusetts area copying portions of the "McNamara Study." Since publication Ellsberg has publicly admitted being the source of documents used as basis for articles on the "McNamara Study" appearing in the press in the United States. We have, in the course of our investigation, obtained voluminous records concerning long distance telephone calls and some local calls made by principles and possible conspirators in the disclosure of "McNamara Study" to the press.

Rerep of [redacted] dated 10/8/71 at Boston. [redacted]

Recipients are aware of contradictory information furnished by [redacted] the cab driver who picked up two fares, one male and one female, on early morning of 3/22/71, at Victor Publishers, in Bedford, Massachusetts, and subsequently discharged the male at an apartment building in Cambridge, Massachusetts, after earlier letting off the female at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge.

Rerep notes that [redacted] upon re-interview on 9/3/71, recalled he assisted the male passenger carry two or three pieces of luggage to the second or third floor of his final destination, believed to be 375A Harvard Street, Cambridge. Rerep does not indicate at what point this luggage was placed in [redacted] cab, and review of previous interviews of [redacted] sheds no light on this point. It would appear, however, from review of all information furnished by [redacted] concerning this trip, that the luggage in question must have been in possession of the two passengers at the time they entered [redacted] cab at Victor Publishers.

It is noted [redacted] on 6/21/71, identified photographs of Neil and Susan Sheehan as "look alikes" for the two individuals picked up by him at Bedford, Massachusetts. On 7/6/71, however, [redacted] stated he believed the male passenger closely resembled photographs of Daniel Ellsberg, which had recently appeared in Boston newspapers. Since Ellsberg lived in Cambridge at the time, and since Neil Sheehan was, as of 3/22/71, a guest at the Treadway Motor House, in Cambridge, there appears no plausible reason for either to have had two or three large pieces of luggage with them during a reproduction session at Victor Publishers, unless they intended to depart Boston immediately after the session, or unless the luggage contained the documents copied at Victor Publishers.

Boston should, therefore, re-interview [redacted] and determine exactly at what point these pieces of luggage were placed in his cab. Re-interviews should also be conducted with [redacted] Victor Publishers, and with employees who were present during the 3/21-22/71 reproduction session, to ascertain whether they recall the aforementioned items of luggage as being present and in the possession of Neil and Susan Sheehan that night, during the time they were engaged in copying documents, and whether this luggage was used to carry the documents reproduced at that time.

NOTE:

Investigation has determined that Neil Sheehan, Washington, D.C.-based correspondent for "The New York Times," and his wife, Susan, reproduced a large number of documents at the Victor Publishers, Bedford, Massachusetts, on night of 3/21-22/71, leaving there early in morning of 3/22/71 by cab. Driver of cab which picked up two passengers at Victor Publishers that date has told us conflicting stories as to identity of passengers and final destination of male passenger, and has now indicated male passenger had luggage in his possession when he let him out. Since luggage may have been used to carry documents reproduced by Sheehans on that occasion, investigation outlined above is desirable

MC LEK. SIO - SUMMARY.

ON OCTOBER TWENTYSEVEN, LAST, [redacted] DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION AND WELFARE (DHEW), WASHINGTON, D.C. (WDC), ADVISED [redacted] WAS CURRENTLY EMPLOYED AS [redacted] AND OCCUPIED [redacted] IN THE [redacted] BUILDING. ACCORDING TO [redacted] ROOM [redacted] BUILDING, WDC, WERE ALSO ALLOTED TO [redacted] AND IN CLOSE PROXIMITY TO [redacted] OFFICE. PREVIOUS INVESTIGATION DETERMINED THAT TELEPHONE CALLS CHARGED TO ANTHONY J. RUSSO WERE PLACED TO TELEPHONES LOCATED IN THE ABOVE ROOMS IN MARCH AND APRIL OF THIS YEAR AND TO [redacted] HOME TELEPHONE ON MAY SEVENTEEN, LAST.

FY 112 REC 65-74060-2208

[redacted] FURNISHED THE FOLLOWING INFORMATION DURING INTERVIEW CONDUCTED TODAY. HE WAS EMPLOYED WITH THE RAND CORPORATION, SANTA MONICA, CALIFORNIA, FROM JUNE SIXTYSEVEN TO AUGUST, SIXTYNINE. DURING THIS PERIOD HE KNEW BOTH DANIEL ELLSBERG AND ANTHONY RUSSO AS FELLOW EMPLOYEES AT RAND BUT HE SAID

NOV 2 1971

END PAGE ONE

THAT HIS RELATIONSHIP WITH THEM WAS ONLY PROFESSIONAL AND HE DID NOT HAVE ANY SOCIAL CONTACT WITH THEM.

[redacted] DURING THE COURSE OF HIS EMPLOYMENT AT RAND, HE ENGAGED IN NUMEROUS CONVERSATIONS WITH ELLSBERG AND RUSSO ABOUT THE VIETNAM SITUATION. AS A RESULT OF THESE DISCUSSIONS, HE HAD THE IMPRESSION ELLSBERG INITIALLY FELT THAT THE UNITED STATES SHOULD SUCCEED IN VIETNAM BUT ELLSBERG'S ATTITUDE CHANGED TO ONE OF DISAGREEMENT WITH THE UNITED STATES POSITION REGARDING VIETNAM. HE SAID THAT ELLSBERG'S PUBLIC RELEASE OF THE PENTAGON PAPERS CAME AS A COMPLETE SURPRISE AND SHOCK TO HIM.

[redacted] HE RESPECTS ELLSBERG AS A VERY INTELLIGENT PERSON BUT DISAGREES COMPLETELY WITH HIS ACTIONS IN RELEASING CLASSIFIED DOCUMENTS. HE SAID HE FELT ELLSBERG WAS MOTIVATED BY A DESIRE TO HELP THE U.S. RATHER THAN TO CAUSE IT HARM.

[redacted] HE THOUGHT RUSSO WANTED VERY MUCH TO IMPROVE U.S. POLICY IN ORDER TO BRING ABOUT A SUCCESSFUL RESOLUTION OF THE VIETNAM SITUATION. HE SAID RUSSO FELT THAT ALL ATTEMPTS IN THAT DIRECTION WERE IGNORED AND CHANGES IN POLICY WERE UNATTAINABLE.

END PAGE TWO

[redacted] DURING THE SPRING OF THIS YEAR, PROBABLY IN MARCH, RUSSO TELEPHONICALLY CONTACTED HIM AND INQUIRED ABOUT EMPLOYMENT POSSIBILITIES WITH DHEW. RUSSO SENT BACKGROUND INFORMATION TO [redacted] WHO PASSED IT ON TO HIS SUPERIOR FOR CONSIDERATION. [redacted] SUBSEQUENTLY MET RUSSO IN LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, APPROXIMATELY JUNE EIGHT, LAST, FOR AN INTERVIEW TYPE DINNER. AN OFFER OF EMPLOYMENT WAS NOT EXTENDED TO RUSSO BY DHEW INASMUCH AS HIS BACKGROUND DID NOT FIT WITH JOB OPENINGS THEN AVAILABLE.

[redacted] HE HAD RECEIVED NO INDICATION OF ANY PLANS BY ELLSBERG OR RUSSO TO HAVE THE PENTAGON PAPERS PUBLISHED AND HE FELT VERY STRONGLY THAT THE DISCLOSURE WAS NOT THE PROPER COURSE OF ACTION FOR THEM TO TAKE DESPITE HIS CONVICTION THAT BOTH ELLSBERG AND RUSSO WERE MOTIVATED BY A DESIRE TO HELP THE U.S. ADMINISTRATIVE.

REFERENCE WFO TELETYPE OCTOBER NINETEEN, LAST, IDENTIFYING SUBSCRIBERS TO TELEPHONES IN THE WDC AREA CONTACTED BY ANTHONY J. RUSSO. INASMUCH AS THESE CALLS APPEAR TO HAVE BEEN MADE IN CONNECTION WITH RUSSO'S EFFORTS TO OBTAIN EMPLOYMENT WITH DHEW NO FURTHER INVESTIGATION IS INDICATED.

By letter dated 10/21/71, Senator Abraham A. Ribicoff (Democrat-Connecticut) requested information concerning investigation conducted by FBI regarding individuals in attendance at a fund-raising gathering held 8/6/71 for the Harrisburg Defense Committee at the Massachusetts residence of [redacted] Letter replying to Senator Ribicoff's query attached, together with letter to Attorney General and copies to Deputy Attorney General and Assistant Attorney General - Internal Security Division, advising them of nature of Senator Ribicoff's inquiry and reply thereto.

Background:

On 8/6/71 a cocktail party given for the purpose of raising funds for the Harrisburg Defense Committee was held at Wellfleet, Massachusetts, at the summer home of [redacted], a member of the Department of Psychiatry, School of Medicine, Yale University, New Haven, Connecticut. Persons attending this function, approximately 150 to 200, heard speeches given by Daniel Ellsberg and [redacted] following which a collection for the Harrisburg defendants was taken up. [redacted] is one of these defendants having been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on 4/30/71, together with Father Philip Berrigan and others, for conspiring to blow up the heating system of Government buildings in Washington, D. C., and for conspiring to kidnap Presidential Adviser Henry Kissinger.

REC-24 65-

[redacted], born 5/16/26 at New York, New York, has been active in anti-Vietnam war and peace activities since at least 1963. By letter dated 10/6/71 directed to Senator Ribicoff, [redacted] alleged that following the 8/6/71 gathering at his home, FBI Agents had approached him, as well as four guests in attendance at the party, concerning the event. While admitting that interviewing Agents expressed interest mainly in Daniel Ellsberg, [redacted] also claimed they had inquired concerning him in his role as host for the event; that interviewing Agents had been threatening in tone; and had given the clear impression that their intent was to frighten people and discourage them from taking part in similar meetings in the future.

Since mid-June, 1971, we have conducted intensive investigation of the activities of Daniel Ellsberg with respect to the unauthorized disclosure of the "Pentagon papers" to "The New York Times" and other newspapers. Since his arrest on 6/28/71, Ellsberg has made numerous public speeches and statements, contents of which have been furnished to the Department at their request, for review for evidentiary purposes. Department has also requested verbatim transcriptions be made if possible of such speeches.

The 8/6/71 gathering at [redacted] home was a private affair and we learned of its occurrance after the fact. To determine the nature of Daniel Ellsberg's speech at this affair and ascertain whether he had made any public admissions bearing on the unauthorized disclosure of the "Pentagon papers," efforts were made to interview a representative number of individuals present at this function concerning Ellsberg's talk. Seven individuals thus interviewed freely volunteered information concerning Ellsberg's remarks while two individuals, including [redacted] the host, refused to be interviewed. Boston and New York have advised that Agents who contacted persons relative to these interviews used no pressure or harassment to effect the interviews, nor were threats made concerning appearance of potential interviewees before a Grand Jury. Similarly, no remarks were made to these people concerning their participation at [redacted] fund-raising affair or at other future gatherings of similar purpose. No indication was given that the FBI was checking on [redacted] his political sympathies or the political sympathies of persons being interviewed. Interviews were limited strictly to the subject of Daniel Ellsberg and remarks made by him at [redacted] gathering. [redacted] allegations have no foundation in fact and we are so advising Senator Ribicoff. Letter attached.

We have had prior cordial correspondence with Senator Ribicoff concerning constituent matters.

ACTION:

1. That attached letter to Senator Ribicoff in response to his inquiry be sent.

By airtel dated 10/20/71, three xerox copies of ANTHONY RUSSO's telephone toll record cards were submitted to the Bureau for entry into the Automatic Data Processing (ADP).

A review of Los Angeles files reflect that a list of telephone numbers charged to ELLSBERG's statement during his stay at the Bel Air Hotel, 701 Stone Canyon, West Los Angeles (telephone number 213-JR2-1211) between 12/30/70 and 1/4/71, were set out in Los Angeles report dated 7/29/71, Page 38. The identity of the subscribers to these listed numbers were set forth in Los Angeles report dated 8/11/71, Page 54.

Los Angeles report dated 9/2/71, Pages 87 to 90 sets forth calls charged to ELLSBERG's statement and the identity of the subscribers to these numbers during his stay at the Century Plaza Hotel, Avenue of the Stars, Los Angeles (213-277-2000) in August 1971.

Los Angeles report dated 10/1/71, Pages 35 through 41 sets forth the same information for calls placed by ELLSBERG during his stay at the Holiday House Hotel, 27400 West Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, California (213-457-2514) during his stay 8/29 - 9/2/71.

Ellsberg Praises Editors Who Printed the Pentagon Papers

PHILADELPHIA, PA. (AP) — Daniel Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers and now faces a possible jail term for doing it, said Wednesday that newspapers who printed the government secrets "did very well for the country" by protecting the right of the people to know what is happening behind the scenes of the government.

One newspaper editor, however, disagreed sharply with some of his colleagues in a discussion of the controversial publications before the annual meeting of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association (APME).

Martin Hayden, editor of the Detroit News, said he believed publication of the Pentagon Papers, even though upheld by the Supreme Court, could lead Congress to pass stronger laws "to regulate or control the press." He added he was "scared to death" of such a possibility.

"We don't have a license to print everything that we can get our hands on," Hayden said. "There has to be some kind of restraint (on the part of editors)."

Other Panelists

Ellsberg shared the panel with Hayden; Elie Abel, dean of the Columbia University School of Journalism, and Peter Arnett, an AP writer who spent more than four years covering the war in Vietnam.

Ellsberg said the Pentagon Papers disclosed "a history of deception" by five presidents. Their secret classification, he said, signified "basic distrust and contempt of the American people" by a government that didn't want to keep the public informed on how the war was going.

Daniel Ellsberg
Argues freedom of press

Hayden said he opposed "overclassification of government documents as secret." But he insisted that the system works, and said although newsmen should not ignore news leaks, the disclosure of entire files is objectionable.

"The American people are the best-informed electorate on the face of the earth," Hayden said. "But I don't think that they must have every scrap of material in government files. If every pamphleteer could publish a plan of a secret submarine or a list of foreign agents abroad, obtained from any peddler of secrets, I don't think the public would stand for it."

Ellsberg said newsmen should lobby for a total overhaul of government secrecy regulations. He said that a statement that 99½ per cent of what now is classified should not be "is probably correct."

Disputes Hayden

Ellsberg, a senior research associate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a former Defense Department official, disputed Hayden's suggestion that the First Amendment is in jeopardy.

"Is this a time that people have less appeal for protection against government restriction?" Ellsberg asked. "If the challenge comes, do we bend with the wind or do we fight to protect a right that we fought a revolution for 200 years ago?"

The APME, in a first-of-its-kind citation, presented the first "Freedom of Information Award" to the New York Times for publishing the Pentagon Papers.

350 Wiretaps 1,500 Arrests

In remarks before the APME Convention Wednesday, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell reported there have been about 350 wiretaps by the FBI since the Nixon administration took office, resulting in more than 1,500 arrests.

In that time, Mitchell said, 170 persons, most of them identified as leaders of organized crime, have been convicted as a result of electronic surveillance.

Mitchell said federal wiretap operations have been so effective that many organizers of illegal drug traffic and bookmaking operations have simply given up because they cannot operate without telephones.

Mitchell said one of the major offshoots of the administration's campaign aginst organized crime has been the indictment or conviction of more than 170 state and local officeholders or former officials.

Mitchell said the officials had represented 21 cities, 12 counties and five states and ranged in importance from judges to state elective officials, mayors, councilmen and policemen.

The attorney general said he wanted to put so-far-undiscovered corrupt officials on notice that if they are violating any federal law, prosecution by the Justice Department is sure to follow soon.

Mitchell said he was aware of the sentiment that organized

DETAILS: On July 13, 1971, [redacted] Hotel Continental, Cambridge, Mass., advised that during the period March 18-25, 1971, fifty-five (55) hotel registrations were executed. Included in the 55 were the following:

[redacted] Registered as party of two on March 19, 1971, at 10:20 p.m., for expected stay of two or three days. Assigned to [redacted]

[redacted] stated that she is certain that she and her husband did not notice anything of an unusual nature taking place at the hotel while they were there. They did not notice traffic to any particular room nor movement of any bulky articles such as boxes or papers. The only people they ever saw were a few elderly ladies. She surmissed that because they spent so little time at the hotel, they would be in no position to notice any unusual activity even if there was any.

[redacted] did not recognize photographs of DANIEL ELLSBERG, CORNELIUS SHEEHAN or SUSAN SHEEHAN as individuals she knew or had ever seen at the Hotel Continental or anywhere else.

Daniel Ellsberg:

DR LEONARD S. ROBERTS [redacted] spoke at an affair sponsored by the American Civil Liberties Union, Washington Ethical Society and Women Strike for Peace. The affair was held at the Washington Ethical Society, Washington, D. C. Approximately 200 persons were in attendance and [redacted] chosen topic was "Lessons from the Disclosure of the 'Pentagon Papers.'" In his remarks, [redacted] stated that the "Pentagon papers" had been taken to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) Press, but since the MIT Press concluded that it would be too costly to publish the documents, the documents were taken to the Beacon Press. It was stated that the total cost for publication was approximately $100,000. [redacted] remarked that newspapers should be willing to publish any article including those against the national interest.

DR RADBERG [redacted] aide to Senator Mike Gravel and a Fellow of the Institute for Policy Studies (IPS), Washington, D. C., has been publicly identified in the press as the individual who made the "Pentagon papers" available to the Beacon Press. The Beacon Press has published Senator Gravel's version of the "Pentagon papers" and the volumes are on sale to the public.

Previous investigation has disclosed that Daniel Ellsberg will make a speech at the Los Angeles Sports Arena on November 12, 1971. [redacted] advised on October 26, 1971, that [redacted] an antiwar activist, and [redacted] of the United Auto Workers Union, have been most active in promoting this affair for the "Set the Date Committee," an anti-Vietnam war group. According to the source, a minimum fee of $2,500 will be charged for the rental of the arena and that as of October 26, 1971, approximately 1,000 tickets had been sold.

INVESTIGATIONS OF UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURES
OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION

A source has advised that at a statewide antiwar conference called by the Tampa Peace Action Coalition (TPAC), an umbrella-type organization coordinating anti-Vietnam war activities in Tampa, Florida, on September 25, 1971, a proposal was made to give support for a rally in Miami featuring Daniel Ellsberg. No vote on the proposal was made at the meeting. A form letter was drawn up by the TPAC stating, among other things, that "A TPAC representative will be speaking at a Daniel Ellsberg rally in Miami." No date was given for the rally and the source was unable to furnish any details regarding whether or not Ellsberg would, in fact, attend.

Prior investigation developed information indicating that copies of the "Pentagon papers" may have been furnished to representatives of newspapers other than "The New York Times" in Cambridge and Boston, Massachusetts, during the later part of June, 1971. In this regard, [redacted] a correspondent for the "Boston Globe" newspaper in Washington, D. C., was interviewed on October 28, 1971. He advised that on June 21, 1971, he was telephonically summoned to the Boston office of that newspaper.

He departed Washington, D. C., on the same date and upon arrival at the "Boston Globe," he was advised that the "Boston Globe" had obtained portions of the "Pentagon papers" and it was his assignment to write up the part dealing with the "Honolulu meeting." He recalled the portion of the "Pentagon papers" furnished to him appeared to be copies and he did not observe any classification markings.

On the morning of June 22, 1971, [redacted] learned that the "Boston Globe" was under a court injunction barring further publication of the "Pentagon papers." Because of this development, he was released from his assignment in Boston and returned to Washington, D. C., on June 22, 1971. [redacted] said he was not informed of the method of transmission of the "Pentagon papers" to the "Boston Globe" and no details pertaining to their delivery have subsequently been revealed to him.

He recalled while in Boston there was some speculation by various employees of the newspaper as to the source of the "Pentagon papers." The consensus of opinion was that the original source would have been someone such as former Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford. [redacted] pointed out that the speculation was later proved wrong in view of Ellsberg's admissions that he, Ellsberg, had furnished the "Pentagon papers" to the news media.

[redacted] recalled the following individuals as being present at the "Boston Globe" office on June 21, 1971, in addition to himself: [redacted] Washington, D. C., Bureau Chief; Executive Editor Robert Healy; Editor [redacted] National Editor [redacted] Metropolitan Editor [redacted] publishers [redacted] and his brother whose full name [redacted] did not recall; and attorneys for the "Boston Globe."

[redacted] expressed his personal feelings that after reading the "Pentagon papers," he believed that the individuals responsible for their disclosure had to be insane.

On October 29, 1971, [redacted] advised he was employed with the Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California, during the period of June, 1967, until August, 1969. He stated he knew both Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo, Jr., in a professional capacity during this period of time. He recalled that although he engaged in numerous conversations with Ellsberg and Russo concerning the Vietnam situation, he never had any reason to believe that either Ellsberg or Russo would disclose classified information to the news media.

[redacted] advised that during the Spring of 1971, Russo telephonically contacted him and inquired [redacted] possibilities with [redacted] Russo sent background information to [redacted] for consideration and subsequently met with [redacted] in about June, 1971; however, an offer of [redacted] was not extended to Russo since his background was not suitable for available job openings.

Prior information has been developed relative to the duplication of classified documents by Daniel Ellsberg, Anthony J. Russo, Jr., and other individuals, including [redacted], during October, 1969. [redacted] was previously identified as a South Vietnamese national who is employed by the United Nations in Senegal, Africa. As previously reported, the FBI Identification Division is examining for latent fingerprints material known to have been in Ellsberg's possession while employed at the Rand Corporation in California. Numerous latent fingerprints and palm prints have been developed on this material and ten of the latent fingerprints have been identified as finger impressions of [redacted].

OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION

On October 29, 1971, Departmental attorneys were served with an order from the United States Court of Appeals at Boston, Massachusetts, based on a motion by Senator Mike Gravel of Alaska to the effect that the Grand Jury's activities in Boston, which Grand Jury is hearing testimony in this case, violate his legislative immunity and the Constitution's provisions for separation of powers among the three branches of the Government. The order directed that no further Grand Jury investigation be conducted at Boston concerning the "Pentagon papers" pending a determination of the questions raised by Senator Gravel.

On October 29, 1971, the office of Assistant United States Attorney David R. Nissen advised that Ellsberg's defense attorneys had filed the following motions before Judge Matthew Byrne, United States District Court, Los Angeles, California: (1) to suppress evidence, (2) for discovery and inspection, (3) for disclosure of electronic or other type surveillance, (4) for a bill of particulars, (5) for discovery of Grand Jury proceedings, and (6) for discovery of Grand Jury lists and related information.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS OFFICE (SIO)

To summarize, for information, current status of prosecution of Daniel Ellsberg, the possibility of additional indictments and areas of current investigation.

Status of Prosecution of Ellsberg

On 8/16/71, Ellsberg pleaded not guilty in Federal Court, Los Angeles, to charges that he had unauthorized possession of classified documents and converted them to his own use. At this arraignment, the date of 1/4/72 was set for hearing defense motions and for setting of trial date.

Possibility of Additional Indictments

Since the establishment of Ellsberg's [redacted] and Ellsberg's associate, Lynda Sinay, as key witnesses to the reproduction of classified documents by Ellsberg, the necessity of utilizing Anthony Russo, Jr., as a witness is no longer essential. Although previously granted immunity from prosecution, Russo has continued to refuse to testify before Federal Grand Jury. His latest refusal, 10/18/71, was based on the Government's declination to honor a court order to provide Russo with a transcript of his testimony. A hearing on the Government's motion contending the court order to furnish Russo a transcript was invalid has not been set. It is anticipated that if the court continues to rule that a transcript of Russo's testimony be provided, the Department of Justice will appeal its motion and eventually file charges against Russo. We have ample evidence to prove that Russo assisted Ellsberg in the copying of classified documents and had unauthorized possession of classified documents.

probably copies of classified documents in the Boston-Cambridge, Massachusetts, area during March, 1971. In this respect, a Grand Jury is currently meeting in Boston hearing evidence which could result in indictments charging the Sheehans.

Areas of Current Investigation

Los Angeles Office (Office of Origin) - In addition to following all ramifications of the investigation, this office is engaged in the follow-up investigation based on results of prior Grand Jury testimony, establishing the complete access history of all documents known or reported to have been in possession of Ellsberg as a result of his employment at Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California, and a penetrating investigation of Anthony Russo, Jr.

Boston Office - This office is engaged in follow-up investigations arising from Grand Jury testimony, the identification of the person or persons responsible for furnishing classified information to Neil Sheehan and his wife, and a determination of whether members of the New Left assisted or conspired with Ellsberg and/or other individuals in the release of classified material to newspapers other than "The New York Times."

New York Office - This office is engaged in voluminous review of airline records, credit card records and bank records in an effort to establish the whereabouts during the pertinent periods involved in this case of numerous individuals known to be contacts of Ellsberg whom investigation has shown could logically be suspected of having assisted him in the unauthorized disclosure of classified information.

Washington Field Office - This office is determining complete history of access by Ellsberg to documents in possession of Rand Corporation, Washington, D. C.; is analyzing and following document examinations and comparisons between classified documents pertinent to this case and articles appearing in the news media by the Defense Department and the National Security Agency; and conducting necessary follow-up interviews as a result of these examinations. It is conducting an extensive investigation into the activities and contacts of Neil Sheehan and his wife. It is interviewing numerous news media people suspected of having knowledge of or participating in the obtaining of classified information which appeared in the press subsequent to the articles based on the "Pentagon papers" by "The New York Times." Corollary investigation is being conducted in an effort to verify that the Institute for Policy Studies (IPS) had access to the "Pentagon papers," how and when IPS obtained same, and the source of the papers.

The aforementioned offices are the primary offices involved in this investigation; however, practically every office in the country, including several of our legal attaches, are involved in our continuous effort to bring this matter to a logical conclusion.

On 10/27/71, [redacted] the Spy Shop, 1402 New York Avenue, NW, WDC, furnished the following information. WFO accepts information from [redacted] but does not encourage him. [redacted]

On 10/25-26/71 four representatives of the Institute for Policy Studies, [redacted] and a [redacted] (probably [redacted]) visited the Spy Shop, at which time they made arrangements to purchase a Mark III "bug detector."

On 10/27/71 [redacted] advised he had sold the bug detector to [redacted] of IPS, whom he understood to be a physicist from the University of Maryland, for $1,029.60. The amount is twice that which [redacted] normally charges and the "bug detector" was defective. [redacted] was quite surprised to learn from [redacted] on 10/27 that [redacted] used the detector and found radio frequency with modulation voltage on the telephone line. [redacted] was asked to make a professional examination and he conducted a preliminary survey on evening of 10/27/71.

Upon visiting IPS on 10/27/71 [redacted] found the telephone service to consist of a switchboard with nine lines. Eight were blocked off for the night; however, tests made by [redacted] on the remaining line determined "six to twelve volt current modulated by radio frequency". IPS wants an affidavit from [redacted] if there is indication of a wiretap.

[redacted]

No explanation was offered by [redacted] for his intentions of "not finding anything" and no questions were asked. He indicated he is in touch with a representative of the Intelligence Division of the Metropolitan Police Department with respect to his findings.

Information available to WFO indicates that the normal telephone lines carry a constant voltage of approximately 48 volts, thus the significance attached by [redacted] to his findings is not apparent to WFO.

LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION
TO THE PRESS

To summarize, for information, recent developments in our continuing investigations of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

MC LEK (Daniel Ellsberg): Federal Judge W. Arthur Garrity, Boston, Massachusetts, on 10/29/71, heard additional arguments on motions to quash subpoenas for appearance before [redacted] Federal Grand Jury, Boston, of [redacted] and [redacted] He also heard motion for revocation of bail for Mrs. Idella Marx, mother-in-law of Daniel Ellsberg. Judge Garrity took under further advisement motions to quash subpoenas for [redacted] but ordered [redacted] to appear before Federal Grand Jury immediately, granting immunity for [redacted] With regard to Mrs. Marx, Judge Garrity granted Government motion to revoke bail for her and after discussion stated he would allow her until next meeting of Federal Grand Jury to decide whether she wished to testify and purge herself of contempt. Mrs. Marx is scheduled to appear before Grand Jury at 1:30 p.m., November 1, 1971, at which time it was indicated she would either purge herself of contempt or be remanded to custody of Attorney General.

During hearings before Judge Garrity at which Government attorneys requested immunity for [redacted] attorney advised Judge Garrity he wished to introduce an affidavit by [redacted] of the Institute for Policy Studies (IPS) alleging that illegal electronic surveillance discovered by [redacted] at IPS through the use of electronic device within the past 48 hours reflected violation [redacted] Fourth Amendment rights [redacted] affidavit included a statement of a [redacted] of the Spy Shop, 1402 New York Avenue, Northwest, Washington, D. C., who manufactures and sells electronic surveillance and detection equipment that "he believes that a new type of electronic detection equipment may be being used on the Institute phones." After a recess, Judge Garrity asked Departmental Attorney if he desired to withdraw his application for immunity, but Departmental Attorney requested that it be continued while Government looked into charges in Rodberg's affidavit. After further discussion, Departmental Attorney agreed to withdraw application and Judge Garrity then advised he desired statement from Government attorneys regarding possible illegal electronic surveillance of [redacted] prior to rendering his decision regarding their appearance before the Federal Grand Jury.

In regard to [redacted] mentioned above, the Washington Field Office advised by airtel dated 10/28/71 that on 10/27/71 [redacted] proprietor of the Spy Shop, above address, stated that he had been approached by [redacted] representatives of the IPS, including [redacted] at which time they made arrangements to purchase a "bug" detector." [redacted] stated he sold the bug detector to [redacted] but believed the detector was defective and was surprised to learn from [redacted] that [redacted] used the detector and found radio frequency with modulation voltage on the telephone line. [redacted] was asked by [redacted] to make a professional examination and he conducted a preliminary survey on the evening of 10/27/71. [redacted] advised it is his opinion there is a bugging device on the line as he found a "6 to 12 volt current modulated by radio frequency." [redacted] also indicated that he has advised a representative of the Intelligence Division of the Metropolitan Police Department of his findings. [redacted] this Bureau has no electronic surveillance on IPS.

It is noted that [redacted] and [redacted] are associated with the IPS, a New Left-type "think tank" in Washington, D. C. [redacted] is a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and [redacted] is a professor at Harvard University. All are acquaintances of Daniel Ellsberg.

On 10/29/71 Departmental Attorneys were served with an order from the U. S. Court of Appeals at Boston, Massachusetts, based on a motion by Senator Mike Gravel of Alaska to the effect that the Grand Jury's activities violate his legislative immunity and the Constitution's provisions for separation of powers among the three branches of Government. The order directed that no future Grand Jury investigation be conducted at Boston by the Government concerning the Pentagon Papers until further notice pending determination of questions raised by Senator Gravel.

LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION
TO THE PRESS

To summarize, for information, recent developments in our continuing investigations of alleged leaks of classified data to the press.

[redacted] (Daniel Ellsberg): [redacted] Washington, D.C. bureau correspondent for the "Boston Globe" (BG) newspaper, was interviewed 10/28/71 at which time he appeared most cooperative and advised he was telephonically summoned to the Boston office of his newspaper on 6/21/71. Upon arrival he was told the BG had obtained portions of the "Pentagon papers" and he was assigned to write up portion dealing with "Honolulu meeting." He stated portion given to him appeared to be copies and he did not observe any classification markings.

On 6/22/71 the BG was under court injunction disallowing further publication of the "Pentagon papers" and [redacted] was released from his assignment in Boston and returned to Washington, D.C. [redacted] stated he was not informed of the method of transmission of the "Pentagon papers" to the BG and no details pertaining to their delivery have subsequently been revealed to him.

[redacted] recalled those being present at the BG office on 6/21/71 as Washington, D.C. Bureau Chief [redacted] Executive Editor [redacted] Editor [redacted] National Editor [redacted] Metropolitan Editor [redacted] Publishers [redacted] and his brother, name not known, and BG attorneys. [redacted] expressed his personal feelings that after reading the "Pentagon papers" he believed individuals responsible for their disclosure had to be insane.

RE: LEAKS OF CLASSIFIED INFORMATION
TO THE PRESS
62-98194

On 10/28/71 [redacted] Security Officer, Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California, advised that Daniel Ellsberg defense attorneys had unsuccessfully attempted to obtain a copy of Rand's security manual through Rand's Legal Office. The Rand Corporation has advised Ellsberg's attorneys that they would only be furnished a copy upon court order.

Assistant United States Attorney David Nissen has advised that he anticipates seeking an indictment against Anthony Joseph Russo on a conspiracy charge but he will hold any action in abeyance in this regard until, at least, 11/8/71 when he has Grand Jury hearings scheduled for Los Angeles in relation to the appearance of [redacted] It is noted that [redacted] was allegedly present during a reproduction session of the "Pentagon papers" conducted by Ellsberg and Russo. A subpoena has been previously issued for [redacted] to be served by the State Department as [redacted] is believed to be in Canada.

On 10/28/71 Federal Judge W. Arthur Garrity granted a stay of ten days while he takes under advisement motion of attorneys for Senator Mike Gravel of Alaska to prevent appearance of [redacted] and [redacted] before the Grand Jury in Boston, Massachusetts. [redacted] is an aide to Senator Gravel and a Fellow of the Institute for Policy Studies (IPS) a Washington, D.C. New Left "think tank." [redacted] is Press Director at Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) and allegedly was offered the "Pentagon papers" for publication by MIT Press.

[redacted] a professor at Princeton University who allegedly has knowledge that IPS possessed a copy of the "Pentagon papers," appeared before the Federal Grand Jury in Boston under subpoena and refused to enter the Grand Jury room. [redacted] was taken before Federal Judge Garrity to be cited for contempt of court and Judge Garrity ordered Falk to reappear on 10/29/71 to hear Garrity's decision on a finding of contempt.

NOTE:

Sacramento has previously submitted Xerox and photographic copies of fingerprint cards for [redacted] was known to have participated in at least one session with Daniel Ellsberg when copying classified documents relating to Vietnam in 1969 in California. At the present time, the Latent Fingerprint Section is processing all of the documents known to have been in the custody of Ellsberg while at Rand, Santa Monica, in an effort to develop latent prints of individuals who may have assisted him in copying these documents. Sacramento by retel inquired if Bureau received photo copies of fingerprint cards for [redacted]. Bureau did receive photocopies of cards and all were of insufficient quality.

In addition two individuals who were initially arrested when they failed to identify themselves were released upon producing identification as members of the press. They are described as follows:

At 4:00 PM, five individuals attempted to enter Fort Devens, Massachusetts, on September 30, 1971, and distribute material relating to the "Pentagon Papers".

advised that the five individuals who were arrested and transported to the PM Headquarters were identified and it was determined four of these individuals had been arrested at approximately 10:30 AM on September 30, 1971 and they were advised at that time if they returned to Fort Devens it would result in debarment from the post. The four individuals were:

DEMONSTRATION AT FORT DEVENS
MASSACHUSETTS SEPTEMBER 30, 1971

You are hereby ordered not to enter or re-enter the Military Reservation known as Fort Devens, Massachusetts. By authority contained in Public Law, you are restricted from the premises of the military reservation at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, and may not return except by written permission of the Commanding Officer.

Your attention is directed to Title 18, Section 1382, United States Code, quoted below:

"Whoever, within the jurisdiction of the United States, goes upon any military, naval or Coast Guard reservation, post, fort, arsenal, yard, station or installation, for any purpose prohibited by law or lawful regulation, or

"Whoever re-enters or is found within any such reservation, post, fort, arsenal, yard, station or installation, after having been removed therefrom or ordered not to re-enter by any officer or person in command or charge thereof

"Shall be fined not more than $500.00 or imprisoned not more than six months, or both, June 25, 1948, c., 645, Stat 765."

It is noted that Daniel Ellsberg was not present at Fort Devens this date but that the above-cited flyer directed to Fort Devens personnel indicated that if enough support was garnered as a result of the day's activities Ellsberg would be invited to speak at Fort Devens at a later date.

DEMONSTRATION AT FORT DEVENS
MASSACHUSETTS SEPTEMBER 30, 1971,

[redacted]

On September 30, 1971, [redacted] United States Army, Provost Marshal (PM) at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, furnished the following information:

On September 30, 1971, at approximately 10:30 AM, a motorcade approached Main Gate, Fort Devens, and an unidentified male requested entry for purpose of distributing material relating to disclosure of the Pentagon Papers. No permission was granted.

[redacted] advised that subsequently, fifteen individuals were arrested at various locations on post for unauthorized soliciting on post. Among printed materials in possession of those arrested were the following:

1. Bantam Paperback edition entitled "Pentagon Papers"

2. Tabloid entitled "Pentagon Vietnam Study as published in New York Times", published by Peace Action Council, 555 North Western, Los Angeles, California, telephone 462-8188

3. An individual flyer entitled "The Pentagon Papers" addressed "To the Fort Devens GI"

DEMONSTRATION AT FORT DEVENS
MASSACHUSETTS SEPTEMBER 30, 1971,

According to introduction in above cited tabloid, The Peace Action Council of Southern California is a coalition of local organizations ranging from religious, student, community, political, minority groups, labor and other affinities, working to end war in Southeast Asia and for social justice. We are part of Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice, a national coordinating body of peace groups, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and National Welfare Rights Organization. The council meets monthly.

[redacted] further advised that fifteen individuals arrested were taken to PM Headquarters where, subsequent to holding private conferences with two unidentified lawyers, they were fingerprinted, photographed, and interviewed for descriptive data. At approximately 1:30 PM, these individuals were released and escorted from the post. The following descriptive data was obtained from those arrested:

COVER PAGE

Will continue to maintain contact with old and new Left contacts for indication of ties with ELLSBERG and continue the program of establishing sources within New Left organizations and interview members of academic organizations in which ELLSBERG has indicated an interest in order to fully cover his activities.

Will continue to conduct investigations concerning [redacted]

Will recontact [redacted] to DANIEL ELLSBERG, to determine if [redacted] has any additional information regarding ELLSBERG's overall activities, it being noted that [redacted] has previously stated [redacted] does not want to report on ELLSBERG's activities on a regular basis.

Will locate and interview [redacted] regarding a check in the amount of $105.00 issued on February 21, 1971, by DANIEL ELLSBERG.

Will locate and interview [redacted] regarding receipt of a check for $280.00 on July 22, 1971 issued by PATRICIA ELLSBERG.

Will interview personnel of Axel Grosser Incorporated, regarding a check in the amount of $16.50 issued on February 22, 1971, by PATRICIA ELLSBERG.

Will locate and interview [redacted] regarding receipt of 2 checks issued by PATRICIA ELLSBERG on February 23, 1971, and March 1, 1971 for $30.00 and $40.00 respectively.

Will await the return of [redacted] to her residence in [redacted] which is located on [redacted] so that she may be interviewed regarding her knowledge of the ELLSBERGS.

ADMINISTRATIVE:

The following analyses pertains to [redacted] as an individual who might have assisted ELLSBERG in some manner in connection with making available copies of the McNamara Study to the press. Both [redacted] are former employees of the Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California, who now live in [redacted] They came to notice when cab driver [redacted] Lexington Cab Company, during interview stated he believed he delivered a male cab passenger, identified by others as NEIL SHEEHAN, to 375A Harvard Street, Cambridge.

It should be noted however, that [redacted] is an elderly individual who may be confused in his recollections of his transportation of a male and female passenger from Victor Publishers Incorporated, Bedford, Massachusetts to Cambridge, Massachusetts. This assumption is based on the fact that in his initial interview he did not mention driving this male fare to two places but merely reported he left him at 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, which he described as a modernistic apartment building. That description fits the apartment building at 4 Trowbridge Place because of its extremely modernistic design with concrete facing and ceiling to floor windows. The other buildings on that street are old wooden structures.

[redacted] also volunteered that his fare entered an apartment where there was a large wine rack.

Interview of various individuals has developed that MARX's apartment had a large wine rack prominently displayed on one side of the living room containing a large collection of various wines. This would indicate that [redacted] was actually talking about MARX's apartment, especially when he mentioned the apartment was on the third floor as is apartment 3D.

[redacted] At this time, (September 3, 1971) however, [redacted] states that he was not in either apartment but left his fare outside in the hallway with his luggage.

In a second interview [redacted] was shown the door to MARK's apartment and at that time stated that he definitely could not recall a decal prominently displayed on the outside of the door which warned that the premises were protected by a burglar alarm. Subsequent investigation has reflected that that decal was placed on the door long after the burglar alarm system was installed and, in fact, although records of the Burns Electronic Security Services Incorporated (BESSI), do not reflect exactly the date of installation, the best recollection of the installing employee was that it was probably during the week of March 22 to 29, 1971 when he worked alone as his partner was on vacation. Thus, [redacted] could have been confused by the fact that when shown the apartment in July, 1971, the door had the large colored sign on it. This could have been installed after he was at that building on March 22, 1971.

It should also be recalled that [redacted] in attempting to locate the second apartment where he stated that he left his male fare, was driven over numerous streets in Cambridge with negative results and it was not until he returned to 4 Trowbridge Place to start the search over that he announced that the building at 375A Harvard Street looked familiar to him. Since 375A Harvard Street is actually across the street from 4 Trowbridge Place and vehicular movement to that building would only involve a U turn (distance of about 50 yards), it is difficult to see how [redacted] could think of traveling any distance between the points as he stated.

It should also be noted that although [redacted] was subpoenaed before the Federal Grand Jury at Boston, [redacted] he was not actually called as a witness since his recollections differed between his earlier interviews.

In addition [redacted] originally made a "look alike" identification of NEIL and SUSAN SHEEHAN as his fares from photographs; however, in a second interview he stated the male passenger resembled published photographs of DANIEL ELLSBERG subsequent to his arrest on June 28, 1971. That identification obviously is incorrect since SHEEHAN was identified by others as the person who entered [redacted] cab at Victor Publishers.

Other information developed from interviews of taxi drivers has reflected trip cards to and from 4 Trowbridge Place indicating that that address is actually the one used by SHEEHAN before or after visiting the reproduction companies.

Of particular note also is the fact that even if [redacted] took his fare to [redacted] he recalled climbing to the second or third floor and definitely passed the ground floor apartment wherein the [redacted] reside.

Investigation to date has eliminated residents of 375A Harvard Street as likely associates in reproduction of the "Pentagon Papers" based on their age, background or length of residence with the possible exception of [redacted]

During interview the [redacted] were cordial and stated that although they knew ELLSBERG while all were employed at the Rand Corporation, they had not seen him socially or otherwise since moving to Cambridge, Massachusetts, and they were not aware of the existence of the McNamara Study.

As noted previously other witnesses have stated that NEIL SHEEHAN was the male passenger [redacted] transported from Victor Publishers to Cambridge, therefore, [redacted] although he was not identified by [redacted] the male passenger's identify is not unknown.

Based on the foregoing the Boston Office feels that [redacted] should be eliminated from further consideration as an individual who assisted ELLSBERG in providing the news media, especially to the New York Times since he originally came to notice through interview o[redacted]

In connection with the large colored decal placed on the door of SPENCER MARX's apartment at 4 Trowbridge Place, it should be noted that thorough interviews of all individuals from [redacted] has failed to determine the name of the person who requested that the decal be placed on the door as well as the date on which it was installed. [redacted] who installed that decal stated it was probably put on during the week of March 22 to 29, 1971 since he installed it alone and would normally have been working with another individual except that that individual was on vacation during that period. He also recalled talking with Mrs. LOUIS MARX, mother of SPENCER MARX at the time he installed it and she mentioned that her son was giving up the apartment next door which further indicates the decal was installed in approximately March.

Since the burglar alarm system had been installed in the fall of 1970 and the large decal pertaining to that system was not installed until much later, Boston speculates that this would be further indication that something of particular value, possibly the "McNamara Study" was being stored in that apartment at that time. It is quite possible tha[redacted] was contacted to have the decal placed on the door to further safeguard the apartment and its contents. As noted above, however, records of [redacted] can not determine the date of installation or why the decal was installed at that particular time.

In view of the fact that a vast number of telephone numbers set forth in toll records of the Cambridge Institute and [redacted] were made for further investigation by Departmental Attorney PAUL M. VINCENT, and the importance of the relationship of the subscribers to those numbers to this case has not been established to date, they are not being set forth in this report, but will be reported by separate LHM. Thereafter, pertinent subjects will be selected upon whom investigation will be instituted and the results thereof will be reported.

It is to be noted that [redacted] who issued a check for $36.83 to Copy Quik on June 18, 1971, was located and interviewed at Stanford, Connecticut, and advised that he issued that check for reproduction costs in making copies of his thesis from Harvard University. The New Haven office is reporting results of that interview.

Records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State House, Boston, Massachusetts were checked on October 5, 1971 by [redacted].

The recheck of the records of the Massachusetts Commissioner of Probation was conducted by [redacted] on October 5, 1971.

The recheck of the records of the Cambridge Police Department on October 7, 1971, was conducted by [redacted]

Records of the Credit Bureau of Greater Boston, Incorporated, were checked on October 5, 1971, by [redacted]

Extra copies of this report are being provided to Los Angeles for dissemination to either the United States or the Departmental Attorneys.

Information copies of this report are being furnished New York and WFO in view of their mutual investigative interest in this matter.

Bureau airtel 9/16/71 states that it is imperative to successful prosecution of the SHEEHANs to prove that ELLSBERG, in fact, did supply the documents to the SHEEHANs. As noted in this airtel, Boston currently has no witnesses capable of testifying that ELLSBERG passed the McNamara study documents to the SHEEHANs. The forthcoming testimony at the Bosto
? FGJ by [redacted] SPENCER MARX, [redacted] and IDELLA
MARX has the possibility of providing the above link.

Boston is unaware of intention of USDJ regarding possible Statute proceedings against SUSAN SHEEHAN and her husband CORNELIUS MAHONEY SHEEHAN. Boston feels that the below-listed data is sufficient for successful prosecution of SUSAN SHEEHAN under Section 793(E). (The known activities of involvement of NEIL SHEEHAN are believed to be prosecutively stronger than those of his wife.)

Reinterview of cab driver [redacted] reflects he could not recall being present in apartment of SPENCER MARX, 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, Mass. Attempts to identify purchaser of Ingento paper cutter Model 1151 or Model 5½ abandoned in MARX apartment negative. Investigation of reproduction centers in Cambridge, Mass., to determine additional locations of reproduction centers used in reproduction of copies of MacNamara Study failed to reflect large orders for reproduced material by any principals. Three individuals who contracted for large reproduction orders interviewed and provided legitimate purposes for copy work. [redacted] New England representative of the New York Times declined to be interviewed on 10/5/71 on anything related to the "Pentagon Papers". [redacted] advised he was contacted by representative of the St. Louis Post Dispatch (SLPD) in 6/71 to determine if he had knowledge of availability of copies of the "Pentagon Papers" which could be obtained by SLPD. [redacted] advised he received a call in 7/71 from [redacted] SLPD, to determine his reaction to trip to China by Presidential aid , KISSINGER. [redacted] recipient of a telephone call from SLPD in 6/71, moved to Toronto, Canada in 9/71. Source at Christian Science Monitor advised he had no personal knowledge of mechanics of receipt of published "Pentagon Papers" by the Christian Science Monitor, (CSM). [redacted] cab driver, Lexington Cab Company, Lexington, Massachusetts, was re-interviewed and shown the [redacted] of the vacated apartment of SPENCER MARX, apartment 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, Massachusetts. After being inside the apartment of SPENCER MARX, [redacted] stated that he can not now recall ever being in that apartment or the hallway leading to that apartment.

At this time [redacted] restated that he recalls that early in the morning hours of March 22, 1971, he picked up a male and female passenger at Victor Publishers Incorporated, Bedford, Massachusetts, and dropped the female passenger at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge. He then took the remaining male passenger to 4 Trowbridge Place. The male passenger then entered this apartment carrying a small attache type case and after approximately 10 minutes, this passenger emerged from this address with the attache case and [redacted] upon instructions, took this passenger to an address which he believes to be 375A Harvard Street, Cambridge.

This latter address is approximately 50 yards from the address at 4 Trowbridge Place. [redacted] recalled that he helped the passenger carry 2 or 3 pieces of luggage up 2 or 3 flights of stairs at that address with [redacted] carrying one large heavy piece. [redacted] was certain that he did not stop at a first floor apartment at that address but carried the luggage to an upper floor with the male passenger and left the male passenger in the hallway. [redacted] recalls that he climbed 2 or 3 flights of stairs with the luggage because the luggage was heavy and he was tired from the exertion.

While in the vacated apartment of SPENCER MARX, apartment 3D, 4 Trowbridge Place, Cambridge, the interviewing agents noticed a large paper cutter on the floor of the apartment, apparently abandoned.

Bob Slate Stationeries
1208 Massachusetts Avenue

Allen's Stationery Company
2150 Massachusetts Avenue

Commercial Supply Company
42 Brookline Street

University Stationery
311 Massachusetts Avenue

The records of all of the above were reviewed for period January, 1971, through present regarding orders for an Ingento paper cutter model Number 1151 with negative results.

[redacted] further advised that two likely retailers which might carry the Ingento Paper cutter would be Harvard Coop and the stationery store at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He added the Federal Wholesalers, Industrial Parkway Braintree, Massachusetts, supplied the Harvard Coop.

Finally [redacted] stated that Wards, Inc., a former Boston paper products wholesaler, went out of business approximately 2 years ago.

were desperate and probably had made hundreds of phone calls to locate this study. He conjectured that they would be in a better position to exploit any tips they had called him. He said that he was aware of others the St. Louis Post Dispatch may have called and would consider it extremely irresponsible on his part to volunteer names of individuals who might have been called. However, it was his conjecture, based upon his knowledge of the newspaper world, that there was probably more information available as to the location of the Pentagon papers in Washington than in Boston-Cambridge area which, he said, is considered the "province" to the various Washington newspaper bureaus.

Finally, [redacted] stated that he is not acquainted with DANIEL ELLSBERG and that, frankly, he was somewhat embarrassed for not being more knowledgeable about the disclosures of the Pentagon Papers in view of the fact that the St. Louis Post Dispatch had called him. He explained that he was away when the New York Times initially published the "Pentagon Papers" and therefore was not fully aware of the disclosures contained therein.

[redacted] a review of his appointment calendar for the year 1971 failed to reflect any contacts with Doctor BUSSING during the period March 21-25, 1971. [redacted] advised during this period he remained in the Cambridge, Massachusetts area due to a flooding condition and vaguely recalls some contact with Doctor BUSSING probably in the Cambridge, Massachusetts area during the March 13-17, 1971 period. [redacted] noted this contact would have occurred following a conference attended by himself on March 13, 1971, at Harvard University called by [redacted], for the National Committee for Indo China/Deadline which was an effort to support legislation before the United States Senate at that time regarding a (time table) for the withdrawal of United States Forces.

He advised that his response was that he felt there was no basis to the story. Also [redacted] said [redacted] had inquired during this conversation whether he had any information as to where these papers had come from and he responded that he had no idea. [redacted] advised the balance of their conversation had dealt with an inquiry made by [redacted] regarding Doctor [redacted] evaluation of the papers to which [redacted] could not provide any answer because of his lack of knowledge of the contents of the McNamara Vietnam Study.

[redacted] provided the following information:

This source has no specific data regarding the manner in which "The Christian Science Monitor" (CSM) obtained the so-called Pentagon Papers. He recalled that the initial CSM press run was on June 29, 1971, and from this date he can conclude that it was printed on June 28, 1971, and therefore evaluated and written on Sunday, June 27, 1971. From the above, he further concludes that the material must have been received at CSM on Saturday, June 26, 1971. He knows that [redacted] He explained that the upset condition pertained to the fact that the CSM had not received the Pentagon Papers and was unable to publish same.

This source speculates that CSM either received a phone call offer of the Pentagon documents and/or the material was delivered to a CSM employee such as a watchman or guard on Saturday, June 26, 1971. This source feels that the identity of the supplier is either unknown to any CSM individual or known only to [redacted] He further feels certain that the authors of the CSM articles [redacted] Overseas News Editor, and [redacted] American News Editor, would not be privy to the mechanics of the obtaining of the Pentagon Papers by CSM.

In answer to a question pertaining to the identity of any individual at CSM who could possibly in any fashion have participated in the receipt of the Pentagon Papers at the CSM, this source stated that former CSM writer and current student at University of Michigan, [redacted] may have played a role in providing the papers to the CSM. [redacted] on behalf of CSM was in attendance at the first press conference held in Cambridge, Massachusetts, following the surrender of DANIEL ELLSBERG.

The above source is of the opinion that CSM printed the Pentagon Papers merely to be one of a number of select publications involved in this matter.

During the early portion of the contact with this source, he speculated that the Pentagon Papers were delivered unannounced to the reception desk at the CSM. After recalling the publication date as set forth above, he estimated that CSM received the material on a Saturday and since the reception room is not open on Saturdays, it could not have been the place of turnover of the documents.

He related that many individuals at CSM, including [redacted] were opposed to the publication of this material by CSM. Prior to publication, officials at CSM consulted the Legal Department of the First Church of Christ Scientist assuring the attorneys that the printing of the material received did not constitute a threat to the security of this country. The officials pointed out to the Legal Department that the papers received by the CSM were of a 1955 vintage. The attorneys informed officials that in this event no violation of law would occur in the publication of the material.

This source was unable to provide data pertaining to the receipt of the Pentagon Papers by "The Boston Globe."

A check of indices at Weidner Library, Harvard College, Cambridge, Massachusetts, revealed on file two copies of ELLSBERG's Doctoral Dissertation "Risk, Ambiguity and Decision" (1963).

Personnel, Archives Room, Weidner Library, advised that degree candidates in the John F. Kennedy School of Government are required to submit two dissertation copies to the Weidner Archives, and that for security reasons, no copies are retained in the Littauer Library of the John F. Kennedy School of Government; also, that to obtain a thesis over one year old, a full application must be made, with identification, including the reason for its use, in order to protect author's copyrights.

Personnel, Littauer Library, confirmed the preceding and further advised that in addition to the candidate's own copy, the candidate's major professor usually requests a copy.

Personnel, Weidner Library Reference Service, advised that to protect security of copyrights, Harvard University does not contribute its doctoral dissertation for microfilming or xeroxing to University Microfilms, also known as Dissertation Abstracts in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Records of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Bureau of Vital Statistics, Boston, Massachusetts, volume 43, page 494, register 150, shows that DANIEL ELLSBERG, age 19, 110 East Hancock Street, Detroit, Michigan, a student born in Chicago, Illinois and CAROL CUMMINGS, age 19, 2856 Ninth Street, Boulder, Colorado, a student born in Washington, D.C., were married at Christ Church, Cambridge on February 10, 1951. The marriage was performed by FREDERIC B. KELLOGG, Clergyman, 24 Farwell Place, Cambridge. This record shows this marriage as being the first for both parties. The groom is listed as being the son of HARRY ELLSBERG and ADELE CHARSKY, and the bride as the daughter of GALE T. CUMMINGS and MARY BOYD.

[redacted], a graduate student and teaching fellow in the Department of Government, Harvard University; part-time consultant to the Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California; graduate of Harvard Law School; and member of the Bar of the State of New York, advised that he has no real acquaintance with DANIEL ELLSBERG, but he has encountered him professionally on about six occasions dating from 1963. He said he first heard ELLSBERG discuss Vietnam policy in 1967 when ELLSBERG was the guest lecturer at the Harvard National Security Policy Seminar, organized and hosted by Professor HENRY KISSINGER, now the Special Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. At this meeting [redacted] recalled ELLSBERG, who had just recently returned from a tour of Vietnam, gave a pessimistic assessment of the United States' progress in Vietnam.

The next encounter was at the meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) held at New York City on November 17, 1970 at which ELLSBERG was the principal [redacted] and invitee of the Chairman of the meeting, [redacted] of Johns Hopkins University. [redacted] recalled ELLSBERG's theme as "Coercive Diplomacy", in which the crux of his remarks related to Operation Rolling Thunder as an example of the use of force for political purposes. [redacted] commented that ELLSBERG's remarks were obviously excerpted from the highly classified McNamara Study, the existence of which was known to the meeting's participants, many of whom held top secret clearances and had themselves assisted in the McNamara Study. [redacted] stated ELLSBERG's lecture, "Coercive Diplomacy", has been published as CFR Background Paper Number 3, dated November 17, 1970 for the confidential use of CFR members.

In this paper, ELLSBERG was said to have cited United States intelligence failures in both Vietnam and other areas. He allegedly emphasized the Cuban Missile Crisis of 1962 as a glaring example of a gross underestimate by United States intelligence of the number of operable missiles in Cuba. ELLSBERG claimed that in about 1963 he made a study of the Cuban Missile Crisis, the results of which, he alleged, he presented to former Presidential advisor WALT W. ROSTOW and other high level government officials at a meeting of the "Tuesday Luncheon Group", described by [redacted] as a weekly meeting of foreign policy officials.

[redacted] related that he also observed ELLSBERG in attendance at CFR meetings held on December 16, 1970 and January 26, 1971. He recalled that at one of these meetings, ELLSBERG's assertions and conclusions were challenged by WILLIAM P. BUNDY, an Assistant Secretary of State during the JOHNSON Administration. He stated that at these latter meetings, ELLSBERG did not appear as a speaker or otherwise participate actively.
